About Banaras Hindu University

Banaras Hindu University founded by Mahamana Pandit Madan Mohan Malviya ji, is one of the most prestigious central Universities in the country. The University in itself is a unique temple of knowledge as it provides holistic education to young minds and nurtures and facilitates their creative talent.

About Mahila Mahavidyalaya

The Science departments of MMV, offering education to female students, are integral units of respective departments of Faculty of science, BHU. The visionary founder of Banaras Hindu University Bharat Ratan Mahamana Pt. Madan Mohan Malaviya ji laid the foundation stone of the MMV in 1929. Since then the institution is serving the nation by imparting quality education for the holistic development of female students.

Scope of conference

Science and technology have a significant impact on human life and civilization in today's world. Their impact has been realized in the advancement of various fields including health science, medicine, psychology, agriculture, climate change, mathematics, space technology, nuclear energy, and many more. However, the need for sustainable development is always indispensable for the environmental balance and social progress ensuring people can lead a better life. This conference would provide a platform for pouring in ideas on all the aspects of natural science and identifying and bridging the knowledge gaps to advance science further.

The present conference aims at bringing together leading scientists, young researchers and enthusiastic students from biological and physical science to discuss the approaches and challenges encountered in sustainable development of environment. This conference will provide a common platform for the formation of research interfaces and could lead to a holistic approach towards the challenges encountered and solutions that could be adopted. This conference will be extremely useful in the sense that it will be attended by chemists, physicists, botanists and zoologists making it truly interdisciplinary and hence would also help in promoting interdisciplinary research. Talks will encompass basic studies and applications and will address topics of novel issues.

Conference Topics:

Mainly but not limited to

- Sustainable energy and fuel
- Ecofriendly materials
- Climate research
- Food security and agroecosystem
- Toxicology and risk assessment
- Ecofriendly management of contaminants
- Restoration and Microbial Ecology
- Biodiversity and its conservation
- Environmental & sustainable chemistry
- Development of functional materials for energy storage and conversion
- Greener synthesis and catalysis
- Chemistry and hydrogen economy
